VOLUME 2 GETTYSBURG, PA., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1910. NUMBER 51

LAFEAN, COLE AND GRIM CARRY ADAMS COUNTY

Congressman is Re-elected by Big Majority in York and Adams Counties. Cole has Majority Re-elected but is Re-elected. Grim Gets Vote for Governorship. Toner Second.

Daniel F. Lafean is returned to Congress with a majority of 1700 in York county and 794 in Adams County. James S.Cole is re-elected to the state legislature with a margin of 198; and Grim carried the county in the gubernatorial contest by 198. This in brief is the result of Tuesday's local election. Totals are as follows:

GOVERNOR
Grim D	9218
Toner R	9420
Berry K	1804
CONGRESS
Lafean R	8161
Brodbeck D	2986
STATE LEGISLATURE
Cole D	8032
Elder R	7834

In the voting for Governor the manner in which the Democratic strength in Grim was the stiffest of any in the county, in the strong Democratic districts the Berry vote was largely Republican. Berry ran exceptionally strong at a number of places in Adams, carrie the First Ward Gettysburg, by a big majority, losing the other two by such small numbers as to be close in the town. In Fairfield he polled 70 votes while neither of the other tickets came got more than 18.

Mr. Lafean's big majority in York County and his substantial lead here stems the popularity of the man himself. In Hanover, his opponent's own town, he had a margin of almost 200 while carrying Mr. Brodbeck's own ward. Mr. Lafean made big gains in many of the Adams County districts over four years ago when he lost the county by 34. In a number of the districts he fell a few behind, only one or two coming close to wiping out the lead.

The race for state legislature was close and exciting. The early returns showed Cole steadily losing ground and it was thought that Mr. Elder would be Adams County's seat representative in Harrisburg. Two years ago Mr. Cole had a majority of 340 and this was cut down until he had only 198 to the good. A peculiar feature in receiving the election returns was the fact that at eleven o'clock the Republican headquarters conceded the election of Cole by 190 while the Democrats conceded the election of Elder by the same figure. Comparison of figures throughout counties out and it was men that Cole had sufficient margin to make his seats.

Jacob Sheaffer, Democratic candidate for Director of the Poor, polled a substantial vote. Norman S. Heiland ran ahead, polling a vote of 17 in Gettysburg and scattering votes in one or two county districts.

The rapidity with which the returns came in on election night from all sections of the county was very gratifying to those waiting for the results. At half past eleven o'clock every district but two had been heard from, a condition never before known here. The promptness with which the returns were sent in was undoubtedly largely to the extended telephone service in many sections of the county.

SETTYSBURG SOVEREIGN

Millard M. Tawney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.m. Tawney, of Steelwarr ave., has become an inventor. The story of his success is told in the Harrisburg Telegraph which says:

"George B. Dunkle and Millard M. Tawney have been granted a patent for a new lock nut. The object of the invention is to provide a lock-nut that may be applied to any ordinary bolt and that may be removed from the bolt whenever desired without loss of time or injury to either bolt or nut. Lock nuts in use today must either be broken to be removed, with great loss of time or if preserved result in injury to destroying the bolt. The inventors have received a number of offers for their patent but are in no hurry to sell."

AWAIT OPENING OF DEER SEASON

Reports from Caledonia and Other Points on South Mountain are to the Effect that Fleet Animals are Numerous.

The sportsmen who are looking for bigger game anticipate a swift the down of the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 15. For then for two weeks therefore dare one hundred and fifty sturdy pairs of red there is no greater delight than the stalking and pursuit of this beautiful out spirited animal.

Early this week the neighborhood of Greenfinnery and points near Fairfield, Mt. Hope, Caledonia and the northerly toward Mount Alto affort the best of this species of game and are the most accessible of convenient hunting grounds.

The hunting lodge just at Greenfinnery has already prepared quarters for more than half a hundred sportsmen from Chambersburg and more distant places and the several months season opens at the top of the South mountain, established carefully, and under advance stands looking over the ground and preparing for the tests.

A number of deer frequent the neighborhood of the White Pine mountains all the year round and hardly a season many scare than usual have appeared in that section. On the mountain, about Mont Alto herds of as many as eight and nine have been occasionally at intervals, during the summer. Both bucks and does have visited Caledonia park and the game is not completely during the summer. This week a party from Fairfield returned from spying tow hanging foliage along the mountainsides and reported that many of the foot bridge which crosses near the Caledonia Springs had been broken.

A few woolnock have been shot in the mountains and a number of deer have been pursued. At the mountain foot some of the deer have been caught in traps. Rabbits are still plentiful although much fewer has been made than usual, owing to the fact that squirrels have fallen.

The deer are found at when the midnight clock of the fourteenth strikes the hour of twelve, and the stroke ringing with strange freedom for almost a half hour. The hunting ground are guarded by excited men, deadly rifles and whooping sentries all relentlessly determined to fire a bloody and killing tone.

MR. DEVENSON ---MISS PITZER

Retired Physician and Miss Rose Pitzer Married at St. James Lutheran Parsonage on Wednesday Evening. A Secret.

At seven o'clock Wednesday evening Miss Rose B. Pitzer and Mr. Edward W. Stevenson were married at St. James Lutheran parsonage by Rev. Charles H. Bauer. Only a very few thing of the wedding, not even the parents of the bride being told of it until next morning.

Early in the evening the prospective bride and groom started from the Pitzer home to attend prayer meeting at St. James church. They stopped at the parsonage, where the ceremony took place, and then went over to the service. Nothing was said to any one during the evening of the wedding having occurred but next morning about five o'clock the bride left home for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pitzer, on the Harrisburg road.

The bride and groom left next morning for Baltimore where they spent the honey moon, where they will spend some time.

Mrs. Stevenson has always been active in church work at St. James Lutheran. Dr. Stevenson came to Gettysburg three years ago and has made his home at the Pitzer House ever since.

IN FROM CUBA

A dispatch from Cortlein says: "Encouraged by her great victory at Azuapota Saturday, Dictator Callejas today began his drive at Bayamo, more than ever to defeat Gettysburg at the Insurgent capital. Between the lines between these old rivals will be a hot fight today, and the fate of Bayamo to Gettysburg, taking over a big lot of Cuban money in the Gettysburg college land. A rate from Cortlein of 2 to 1 against Bayamo can be easily obtained.

"Dictator's foot ball practice yesterday was fruit class. More than 300 people witnessed the game. The Insurgent Saturday. The lineup against Conway Hall was fine and seriously weak. Callejas' team will probably meet Fundamentals and signals were given out yesterday. Dictators are about evenly matched. Coach Cole has been working hard with them, and his two weeks' work is beginning to tell."

COUNTY VETERAN DEAD

Henry Gilbert died at his home near Bonneauville, at 4.45 a. m., on Monday of heart disease, aged 61 years and 4 days.

TIMES SCARED AWAY

Barry Thurs. morning W. S. Duttera, of Baltimore street, was awakened by the noise at the barn pile at the rear of his house. He lushed out and saw a person one hook with a bag on his back and putting it into a bag. Mr. Duttera fired low and the would-be thief left, leaving the bag behind. When Mr. Duttera went to the place he found that the bag contained 75 chickens that if another attempt is made to rob the hen roost the owner will not be scared about shooting low but will do his best to hit the mark.

BLACKSMAD

Reports from Fulton county state that a disease known as "blackhead" is killing hundreds of wintering birds out that section. In some instances flocks of from 100 to 200 have died of the disease that those engaged in the business of raising turkeys have lost from 5 to 25 per cent of fowls numbering 25 to 35.

LITHIA SPRINGS IN THE COUNTY

Resident of Near York Springs Has his Springs Examined and Receives Report of Valuable Mineral Water.

An examination of the springs on the farm of Joseph Hollen in Latimore township with by Colonel Henry C. Demming, State Mineralogist, disclosed the fact that the springs contain a valuable lithia water. He also found signs of petroleum and specimens of rock suitable for improved highway purposes and he has written to Governor to make concrete and for railroad ballast. In a letter to Mr Hollen, Colonel Demming says:

J. H. Hollen, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—

On Tuesday, November 1st, A. D., 1910, I made a field examination of the water on the two springs on your property, situated in Latimore. Both flow from the first spring to the watering trough is by reason of a 1 inch pipe and degree with a strong evidence of carbonic acid, minute traces of carbonate of lime and chloride of calcium with traces of potassium salts. Also there coned into the spring a very small fraction of an oily substance, closely resembling thin petroleum.

I also found on the property immediately adjoining the spring considerable outcrops of a fine grained white ustone, and probably of the variety known commercially as soapstone and the rock exceedingly valuable for insulating purposes. Also for concrete with cement to make concrete and for railroad ballast.

The water course in the field northwardly from the spring that contains the petroleum and mineral matter I have mentioned, also has chalybeate deposits and would be worth a test assay as the spring first mentioned.

The spring is evidently a living fountain and is having the water of the first spring visited quantitatively analyzed, and if it proves to be a lithia water, but not a valuable mineral water. I would be glad to have a financial agent in some human affection and will be made manifest to the public. Also the water from the two springs from your residence she has some valuable medicinal properties. The contents is not in large, apparently as the flow is small, but the water for the watering trough.

If these wagers prove to be of the value I think they are, a initial investigation leads me to believe they are, you will have a good supply of market, seen in the dryest season. I would be glad to have you make some reference to the well near the residence, and the depth of the same, and the number hours, and, in ordinary seasons, were that water supply.

Very respectfully,

Henry C. Demming.

ADAMS COUNTY IS PROSPEROUS

Well Known Adams County Farmer Says that the County is just now Closing One of its Most Prosperous Years.

A well known Adams County farmer today discussed the closing of the season and fall season and in a conversation the manner claiming that the county had one of the most profitable years in its history. He said:

"Almost every crop which is raised by Adams County farmers was a success this year. Wheat, corn, rye, hay and all the other crops were abundant and it seems as though we had almost record breaking yields. We have plenty of talk early in the year about a shortage in the corn yield but this story fell flat long ago and it now looks as though the yield will be another short above the average.

"Up in the upper end of the county it is all apple talk. The biggest yield of apples that the county has ever seen is being picked and shipped there and during the past few weeks considerable money has been paid to choice fruit for which the county is noted have been shipped to all parts of the north and east while other markets have received small lots.

"And while we are talking of the prosperity of the county at this time we must not forget to mention stock and poultry. Prospects are that the big prizes brought by the fancy stock raised here while the more ordinary kinds will bring the top prices that are more than satisfactory to the farmers. Poultry and eggs are likewise bringing in handsome returns and the poultry raising industry is something of which to congratulate. For its the most profitable of all and the prospects for everything has been one way."

Y. M. C. A. TO GIVE PLAY

The Young Man's Christian Association have decided to give a concert entitled "Uncle Josh Perkins' Family Ice" on Thursday evening, November 17th.

They have arranged for the production of the play with Mrs. Gilbert Hall as the most successful company of its kind ever produced. Mrs. Hall is the owner and manager of the company which includes a number of "Uncle Josh" Perkins' Family Ice," also wrote "County Fair" and "Union Depot," both of which have been given in Gettysburg.

The company will remain in town two acts. The first shows the Uilburn Family preparing for the Reunion. The second shows the Reunion and guests at the reunion, with Mrs. Gilbert introducing specialties of singing, dances, etc., for the entertainment of her guests.

This two act musical comedy was written by Frank Dumont, one of the Frank Dumont Minstrels, of West Virginia and is said to be one of the prettiest and cutest. The music is said to be catchy and two choruses and six young men and young ladies assist Mrs. Hall in the production, entshini song production numbers and are presented in a beautiful, attractive manner.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

XI.—Rural Education—The Agricultural College.

By C. V. GREGORY.

[Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.]

IN 1862 congress passed a law appropriating lands for the establishment and support of agricultural colleges in every state. Today there are sixty-seven such institutions in the United States. The establishment of the agricultural colleges opened up an entirely new field of education. The study of science and the application of that science to the problems of everyday life began to take the place of the study of classics. Book reading a man merely to have him educated began to go out of style, and the truer education that better fits a man to tackle the problems of life took its place.

The growth of the agricultural college was slow at first, and not until within the last fifteen years have the annuities just how need leaders most were more than they were willing to supply make money on their own farms. It is necessary for the agricultural college graduate to succeed on his own farm, of course. His every move is closely watched by critical neighbors. Even the smallest of a failure starts a chorus of "I told you so."

Success on his own farm is the first essential to the young man who would be a leader. Given that for backing, he can do almost anything he wants to with his community. Farmers have a vast deal of respect for the man who can do things. Their prejudice against book farming has been overcome by the agricultural college graduate. He is a college farmer. If he strives on the principle that he is a farmer first and a book man last he will succeed.

If an energetic young farmer with an agricultural education should be placed in each township throughout the farming sections of the country there would be an enlightened agriculture that would be the envy of the whole world. A leading educator recently spoke the sentiment that the agricultural college graduate is not going to the cities. The country need is any agricultural college graduate. It is literally true. The country would become a garden spot if there were not anxious to go to farming. A good many of them do not succeed for lack of capital. They have spent all their money on their farms or have thrown the whole business to start farming without it. Farmers are overwhelmed with offers of salaried positions that pay from $2,000 to $5,000 a year to start with. Experiment station workers, county agents, agricultural papers and manufacturers of agricultural implements are looking for agricultural college graduates.

Many of the best farmers in the north west of this kind until they can save money to start on their farming.

Of the college graduates who do take up farming the majority make a greater success than the home farm ers who have not had the benefit of the agricultural college. This is the kind of success that counts. It is not the success that is measured by dollars and cents, but the success that is measured by the satisfaction one's success and the appreciation of those who know him. The agricultural college graduate who starts a whole community to thinking and to doing better farming methods is no need to worry further about his future. He will be successful.

remains of the pet pretta. A position in the college has been found for him to swing a farm.

Although an agricultural college education is of great value, it must not be thought that it is the only road to success without such an education it must be said that many persons are not fitted for an education of this kind either by temperament or ability. Many others are so situated that they cannot get away from home for four years. Still others do not have the money. For these boys an agricultural college education is an impossibility. But there is nothing about their business sense other form of education that will be more helpful to them than that given by the secondary schools. The agricultural schools will be described in the next article.

32 MORTGAGES ARE SATISFIED

Register and Recorder Applier Had Busy Month. One Mortgage for a Hundred Thousand Dollars. Big Collateral Inheritance Tax.

Thirty two mortgages were satisfied in the office of Register and Recorder Jacob A. Applier during the month of October, the largest number since April. The mortgages amounted to $139,940.

Each of these was for $100,000 and was held by Jay Gould, Jr., appointed the Hunters' Bus and Shoe Belt Railway Co. The mortgage was for a blanket cash possession of this road last week by Receiver Applier.

October was also notable in the office of the Register as the largest single amount of collateral inheritance tax, $1,023.10 was received during that month. October and on blender Mr. Applier took out the check to the State Treasurer for that amount. Only one month since he has been in office has this large sum been received. It was received on the return from the state of Helen Hendrix which alone amounted to over $4200.

A VEXED PROBLEM

The Philadelphia and Reading that has been of having fixed some thing that will prevent the rails from slipping on the bridge at Harrisburg crossing the Susquehanna river. The bridge is built on a considerable grade and the weight of the rails together with engines and the freight train coming down the grade with the brak es applied, causes the rails to slip from six to ten feet every.

The section men are kept busy in moving the rails filled in. The rails slip through the spikes that are driven into the ties instead of into the ties and P. Junction, and the men must be continually cutting them off at the junction, and filling in at the other end.

Recently the company put down 2,000 new spikes in the bridge with the cross ties,and the ties being grooved into the bridge, it is thought that the spikes will stop the rail problem. It will take six months, however, to determine whether they will be a success or not.

MUST STAND THE TEST

Assistant Postmaster R. E. Stay heads a list of 100 applicants for masters who hope to be transferred to the examination list by the United States Government under the civil service rules, according to word from Dent Taft. A dispatch from Washington says that the Commission is the rigid examination as to their efficiency. Postmaster Stayer's friends had an assembled conference with Congressman Dent and the Civil Service Commission regarding the promulgating of regulations of the subject.

The Postmaster General does not intend that any drones or favored rela tives shall hold the fat jobs. Regulations of efficiency that should be required of assistant postmasters will be strictly enforced to the permanent rails by the Postmaster General. Each man appointed will be worth before he goes into the classified ranks."

Mr. Stayhough not coming in the "drone" or "favored relative" class has his application pressed, to the delight of his many friends.

STRANGE BIRD IDENTIFIED

Earl Hoffman, a Lancaster boy, says he caught a strange looking bird on his father's farm near Kensworth. He took it to his home at Kensworth and then had it exhibited in a store window. 'SCHOOL PATRONS' LEAGUE FORMED

Parents, Teachers and Patrons form Organization to Improve Local Public Schools, and Better Children's Conditions.

The pattern of the fledgeling pub lic schools out at the area High School Saturday afternoon when a mighty organization a Parent Teachers' League for the betterment of the schools and the scholars. It is understood that the organization will be confined to parents out teachers alone, but that all interested in the welfare of the schools will be welcomed as members.

The officers elected are president, Mrs. D. F. Mc Cullough; vice president, H. Milton Roth; secretary, Miss Lizzie Hummel; treasurer, Mrs. Hamilton

The large room was crowded at the opening of Monday. Calmly assuming and before the business was taken up a very much enjoyed program was rendered by the school. The exercises opened with a calisthenic drill by the pupils of Miss Hartman's room. Miss Sara Bean recited "Mother's Secret" and Miss Lucile Kelly Reily played a violin solo, Miss Mary Young acting as accompanist. The Battle Hymn of the Republic" was sung by the entire audience and then a number of the High School girls gave a very pretty Japanese song and chorus.

Rowtice Gilbert, Annie Weaver, Ruth Hoffman and Miss Hartman sang the verses of the popular "Kentucky Babe" number with a chorus with the chorus. All were in pretty costume and the number was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Walter L. Smith, of Mountville, who is going about organizing Parent Teachers' Leagues explained the purpose of the organization. The principal spheres of activity are in the betterment of child labor laws, morality and the work of the juvenile courts and the betterment of conditions those who hope to better the condition of children should be their chief studies and schemes. The principal aim of the league is a closer relationship between teacher and parent and then a closer relationship between the school ing the children. Mrs. Smith, in the course of her remarks, hit two of Col. Lehman's pet hobbies by her emphatic adversity of the buildings in which the children are compelled to study and have no place to play.

Mrs. Walter L. Smith's address Prof. Burgoon told of the aspect of the league from the point of view of school authorities and teachers but as it was a business meeting no discussion to be gained from a closer relation. Donald P. McNamee moved that the Parent Teachers' League be organized and the motion was seconded and carried. The following committee on by-laws was appointed: Mrs. Calvin Hamilton, Prof. H. Milton Roth, Mrs. H. Clay Frick and Mrs. Bender.

The following nominating committee was appointed, Mrs. D. F. Mc Cullough, Mrs. T. T. Weaver, Miss Helen Cope, C. A. Bleeber and J. Elmer Rosenberry. An informal social hour afforded those present and they were at once alerted by acclamation.

It was decided that the next meeting be held in the High School building on the Wednesday evening November 19 at 7.30 and the following were appointed as a committee to arrange a programme for the evening. Mrs. G. W. Hensel, Mrs. Rachael Reist and T. T. Weaver.

HUNTER SHOT IN EYE

In a hunting accident which occurred Saturday, William Dreas, of Mt. Holly Springs, will, it is said, probably lose the sight of his right eye.

Dreas was hunting in the woods of Mt. Holly Springs, and Dr. C. S. Gilbert, Dr. J. Manning and Myron Dunkinson, all of Carlisle, went to the assistance of the wounded man at the office of Dr. Clare's Gap in the North Mountains where Dreas lives.

A number of rabbits were found and shot by the hunters and Myron Dunkinson was on top of a hill and Dreas was at the bottom. Dunkinson aimed for a rabbit and shot at it. Unfortunately one of the shot from Dunkinson's gun struck Dreas in the eyeball, striking Dreas in the right eye and causing the injury mentioned.

The injured man was placed in an automobile and brought to Carlisle by a belief an hour. Here the shot was removed from the eye by Dr. Gilbert and Dreas in Mt. Holly Springs. The shot struck Dreas in the eye with such force that it penetrated the eyeball and it is believed that the sight of the eye will be lost.

PRAYERS ANSWERED

Daniel S. Myers, son of C. A. Myers, Kistler's store Franklin County, was run down and killed by a train. He had gone to his parents. They became alarmed at his absence, telephoned and prayed for news. Shortly after the message came that he was killed and the mother and father and then relieved their anxiety.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

XII.—Rural Education—Secondary Schools.

By C. V. GREGORY.

[Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.]

IN the past the 97 per cent of the boys and girls who never attended college have severely received their share of attention. The secondary schools in the country are, but the rock and the hills have been neglected, only recently has the value of industrial education for the great mass of the people been recognized.

Now that the necessity is seen steps are being taken to meet it. It was thought at first that the country boy would obtain all the education he needed in a city high school. That idea is fast being overcome. The city high school was not created to meet the needs of the country boy, and it contains little that appeals to him. High schools in the cities have too long disregard their courses of study for the 3 per cent of their pupils who will go to college, and neglected the needs of the other 97 per cent.

Where a high school was on the boy in town, it was harder still on the country boy. The distance from the city high school course that was considered necessary for the boy in the farm. Most of his time was given to arithmetic, history, grammar, etc., with perhaps a little music and art thrown in. The boy was supposed to get help in developing his mind and teaching him to think. The latter end of the man were of little value except to the few who were supposed to enter college. The music probably was given to the girls. The boy left high school as well as the meadow brook at least and he set to use what he learned. He was given a chance to do it.

Now that the high school authorities have awakened to the fact that the attitude toward work in general must be changed in particular. Manual arts and girls were encouraged to prepare for the duties of life. The high schools get through life more easily; through life more easily and get on to many words. The teachers talk. The boy is not to be taken away from his home, but carried the knowledge that will be useful to him right where he is. The girl is encouraged to stay from the farm and toward the city. She is taught how to make the most out of her knowledge of the farm, but she was taught how to make the most of every other calling and the dark that she will be called upon to meet that he left the farm at the end of his high school course.

The high schools are coming to pay more attention to the needs of the farmer boy. They are endeavoring to teach agriculture with the practical side of the work. They are endeavoring to teach agriculture with the practical side of the work. They are endeavoring to teach agriculture with the practical side of the work

NO SCARCITY OF TURKEYS

Produce Dealers and those who Know Claim that this Year's Turkey Crop will be Large and that Low Prices will Prevail.

So abundant has been this year's turkey crop in Ashe County and other parts of Pennsylvania that the retail price is not likely to exceed 18 cents a pound live weight, and during the week preceding Christmas it will not surprise the public greatly if the birds go as low as 15 cents a pound live weight.

A wholesale poultry dealer said: "You may depend on it turkeys will not sell this year at 20 to 30 cents a pound, as they usually do. Did last year. If they sell at 15 to 18 cents a pound, the price will be entirely too high considering the relatively large yield of the birds. Fourteen cents would be a fair price and ought to yield the farmer a fair profit on their flocks. New York and Ashe County ties the crop of turkeys is the largest since 1908."

A representative of a Baltimore firm of dealers is now buying in Ashe and said: "I have just completed a tour of the large turkey producing sections and everywhere the turkeys are in fine shape. The hatching and growing season was just right for not too hot nor too cold. Farmers who made money in turkey raising last year greatly increased their hatchings. The hatching has been successful everywhere and the birds have thrived wonderfully. When we were in West Virginia a week ago I found turkeys so plentiful that they were selling at as low as seven cents a pound live weight."

Poultry dealers are of the opinion that turkeys for Thanksgiving dinners will be cheaper.

DOUBLE TRACK TO HIGHFIELD

The Western Maryland Railway Company has completed the ballasting of its new double track between Fulton Station and Emory Grove, and this portion of the road is now ready and will compare favorably with any stretch of track anywhere in the country.

The double track portion of the W. M. was finished a few months ago, and has since aided materially in the train movement on the Western Maryland. In building the stretch the officials of the Western Maryland provided practically a double track system from Fulton Station to Highfield, since the old Emory Grove Division is used to that point.

In the past few years the roadbed of the entire property from Hagerstown to Baurier rails have been laid, practically all of the line has been stone ballasted, and the entire system of the road has been brought up to a high state of efficiency.

WOULD KEEP UP CURB MARKET

Market Master Miller Says Porker Products Justify Continuing the Gettysburg Curb Market until the Holidays.

Matters at the curb market looked up a bit Saturday, and there were a dozen or more wagons on hand with the usual line of farm products. Buyers were out early and in a larger number than for several weeks. Sweet potatoes, apples, pumpkins and other vegetables and fruits were in evidence, but while meats, dressed and other country products were also on hand.

Market Master Miller is opposed to discontinuing the market during the holidays though he says it might be a good place to do away with it after that until the spring season opens. Mr. Miller in discussing the proposition says:

"It won't be long now until the farmers will be through killing corn and their other fall work and then will commence the winter killing of hogs. At that time is case started the people will be ready to buy the fresh pork and sausage and all the other things in that line of which pound cakes and cakes will make the market worth while at that time. I am in favor of the right to do away with the market after the holidays but until that time I would not favor it at all."

Down in York there is much complaint over the scarcity of edible articles on the market while there is considerable grumbling over high prices

MR. JOHNS ARRESTED

A horse owned by S. L. Johns, of Mt. Pleasant Township, Adams County, while being driven to Hanover on Friday by Mr. Johns fell and had both front knees.

The animal's legs were bandaged, and Mr. Johns proceeded to Hanover. Dr. H. J. Rowell, agent for the Pennsylvania Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, saw the injured animal being led by its owner and feeling that it was suffering great pain, notified Mr. Johns to appear in court requesting Johns to appear at Squire Bair's office. Johns paid the costs of the papers were made out for the charge of cruelty to animals. Instead of cruelty to animals, a compromise was effected between Dr. Rowell and Johns and the latter is taking the injured animal to Dr. Nathan Stambaugh, veterinarian, for treatment.

The Scrap Book

He Wouldn't Repent.

When Harry Lauder went to London for the first time the stage reception he had made in the provinces had not made much of an impression on the metropolis. With a shrewd sense of the value of striking effects, Lauder decided he would arouse the Londoners by singing a song of repentance. He came on dressed in the most extreme fashion, with large boots, a huge stick and a big red nose. Then when the little fellow urged him forward to the orchestra conductor asked in a bark, a bow, and Harry was beginning to sing in a voice that the stage never the hawk's bell, the animal pawed the air with his feet and shook his head in unmeasured expression. Laughter and applause followed. When at last, amid the gallery applauded and encored and shouted for more.

"Do it again, Harry; do it again!" cried the Londoners, and Harry, still fantastically of his boots, looked back at the hawk, and, turning to the audience, he said:

"I'll do it with pleasure, but I won't repent."

What the Basket Cost Him.

When Colonel Isobert G. Ingersoll was in Paris he was entertained one night on one day by General John A. Logan. The colonel was expected at dinner time, and General Logan was surprised to see the literary, when he opened the three volumes of Voltaire's works, as a present to Ingersoll. Each of the books was bound in the boudoirs of M. Rothschild, and the cost of the binding of the three volumes was 2,000 francs, or $400 in their beauties. While so engaged Ingersoll remarked to Logan:

"Colonel," said the ex-gent, holding up the volumes to your place.

Then the shining glass, the attractive show of books, and the artistic enhancement of your stock, are magnets for customers. Don't you think so, Colonel?"

"Those books," began the colonel, the basket cost me 2,000 francs." Ingersoll coach word, "coat me—the governorship of Illinois."

ATTRACT TRADE, THEN RETAIN IT

Neatness Sure Way to Bring Buyers to You.

LESSON FROM BIG STORES

Appearance Count For Much on Saleable Sheet of Success or Failure. Window Display Arranged Show Windows and Stock.

A little paragraph is one of the interesting points in the last edition of the writer. It expressed much so simply and so happily, it is worth embodied a vital thought in a few words. It is the prospect proposition of a business enterprise, that it is another round of business.

Now, the prospect is the orderly arrangement of the stock, the attractiveness to trade; and one signs of a growing business. If such business places with a grow they should notice the attractive large stores give to these things."

Why say that one, paste it on your desk, read it every day and set to work accordingly.

Men are careless creatures, women are careless, and they are inclined to lose sight of the value of appearances, the most insignificant attention to adjustments to run down to actual neglect.

The grocer nor know full well the value of appearances, and they work that knowledge to the limit. Women, the purchasers, know it well, but in their care in dressing, keep bitjous knots over attention to clothing and attention to other self and forms a card to be the first.

Get wise to the fact that appearances cut a figure even in the collections of every man and results to every man who keeps his store open to meet a good appearance. This does not mean that you must go in debt or go-for anything of that kind. Cleanliness, neatness, order, freshness of paint, will incline the thoughts of the passer-by to your place.

Then the shining glass, the attractive show of books, and the artistic enhancement of your stock, are magnets for customers. Don't you think so, Colonel?"

"Those books," began the colonel, the basket cost me 2,000 francs." Ingersoll coach word, "cost me—the governorship of Illinois."

SURFACING OF COUNTRY ROADS

Problems That a Highway Engineer Must Solve.

THREE TYPES OF TOP DRESSING

Sand-Clay, Gravel and Macadam the Materials Used—Character of Rocks Suitable for Macadam—Macadamized Roadways Must Be Known.

In an address recently delivered before the Massachusetts Highway Association at Winston-Salem, N. C. Dr. Logan Waller Page, director of the Appalachian Good Roads association, spoke on the subject of surfacing roads:

"The question of surfacing material for a road is one that is causing road builders considerable trouble. With the introduction of the automobile, the wear and tear on our public roads, especially of the surfaced roads, is greatly increased. However, it is not due to the automobile alone, but to a combination of the suction action of the narrow two tires of heavy wagons and the pounding action of the wide tires of the automobiles. The two tire has a cutting and grinding action which reduces the surface of the road to a powder, and the wide tire simply pounds, which are readily lifted up by the suction of the narrow tire. The power of the rubber tire of the automobile also would not do such great damage to the road surface were it not the two tire acts as a protection for the tires that succeed it and keeps the remains as such protection until blown or rain to wear it away. The automobiles would not do any where near as much damage to the public roads as the suction power of the tires would not seriously affect the well surfaced road. It is the combination of the two, however, that causes the great damage that is laid to the automobile.

"For country roads there are three types of surfacing material in use—macadam, sand clay and gravel.

"In considering a macadam road the road engineer has many problems to solve. He must not only be familiar with the method of construction of the macadam road, but he must be familiar with the rocks that are to be used in the road. He must take of using on this a study of the character of the stones and the kind of rock that is most suitable for the macadam road. The old saying that 'a stone is a stone' does not apply to macadam. The cost of a four inch macadam road is about $5,000 per mile, and as engineer will wish to use it for a number of years, there is always a tendency to use the thin coating between the foundation stones for better results.

"The character of rocks suitable for use in the construction of a macadam road must also be known by the road engineer for the reason that many rocks are not of the right kind to use because on account of their softness and lack of cohesion they soon wear into binding surface. The best rocks for macadam are the trap rocks and granites. These rocks are all basic in character and are used as a rule for dressing for macadam give the very best results. Limestone and soft rocks, as granite, gneiss, quartzite, sandstone, etc., are not used to any extent of the inaccessibility of rocks of this character. The use of the hydration in granites and gneisses by the road engineer is important, as rock which contain a great deal of hornblende, mica, etc., are subject to the construction of macadam roads. They do not bind well, and the road is soon dusty although the traffic is very heavy. Limestone is objectionable for the reason that in the presence of soft rock, has exceptionally good binding qualities, and when used on a macadam road, but one that has to be watched constantly.

"The sand clay road which is coming into general use throughout many of the northern states is one that the road engineer must know how to build. In some instances this road can be built from the material found on the ground and will give just as good results. All sand or all clay will not produce the best clay roads, and in building this type of road the road engineer must know how to test so as to adjust the material to use for binding.

ENTRANCE TO WM. WOODS' VILLAGE OF MOST HEALTHFUL.

[From the American City, New York.]

with trees and bordered with turf, of cottages of attractive form, which give an impression of freshness, of health and security. The entrance of the new village the points of compass have been taken into account, and the cottages face as much sunlight as possible.

"Let us take a look at the plan," he continued. Here is a road five rods wide with a sidewalk on each side, the latter four feet in width, of which 1.5 meters are macadamized, leaving a grass plot between every line between the sidewalk and the road. Trees are planted in front and even between the houses, planted throughout the whole village, which will in time form a complete shade. The cottages are of the width instead of being papered in laid with a coat of white wash, which is of little expense and bears an attractively pleasing effect on the exterior.

"Entering one of the cottages, we find two stories and a basement, the first and previous, on the ground floor a living room 12 feet square, a kitchen 9 by 4.5 meters and a bedroom for the family. There are three bedrooms above for the parents (4.5 by 3.6 meters as the first floor) and two bedrooms for the family three meters square. Under each room is a cellar. Coal is not to be wasted, we find a garret for drying clothes.

"It is worth noting that every room in the house has a window, for thus that the floors can be polished. The stairs are of the simplest construction, so that no dust may gather there.

"The arrangements for light and ventilation the windows taking up a considerable part of each room. They open on hinges, and the upper part can be let in also up near the room. There was one thing which I did not see in the houses in Sunday, the coal shed, etc., without destroying the general harmonious look of the cottages. This has been accomplished by making the basement (which serves also for a bathroom, etc.) project about two meters beyond and the coal shed, as well as the toilet, is built in a pocket. This pocket is a sort of outdoor summer dining room.

"The sewage from the toilet is conducted into septic tanks, where it is purified and then used. There is no fear for such tanks.

MODEL VILLAGE MOST HEALTHFUL

How Frnest Companies Build Homes For Workmen.

GARDEN SPOTS ENCOURAGED

Roads, Houses and Parking Strips Are Described as Being Most Satisfactory—Trees as Well as Man Who Had Them Built.

There is perhaps no other country that has done so much for its workmen so justly as France, says Consular Agent Frank H. Mason, at Roubaix. It is estimated that there are 4,000,000 laborers in the country living in model houses.

The most interesting of these government manufacturing towns built generally since 1894 is that of Noisiel-sur-Marne, a suburban village of Paris.

The first year four years ago that I was called in the capacity of social worker I visited the model village of Noisiel. In the name of the Association for Social Progress, which I had previously advised the company to build model villages, for which I had the pleasure of furnishing the first engineer. The architect of the company was sent with me to see what had been done in England, and the work was undertaken.

It is well to note here that a garden village, a garden city, differs from a manufacturing settlement not only in that its inhabitants have cheaper and more sanitary houses, but that their dwellings are also more beautiful, more scientifically arranged and are chemically scattered among flowers and vegetables.

"It is an ensemble of elegant and harmonious curves, of streets planted

MILTON PLANK COMPLIMENTED

Former Citizen of Gettysburg Receives Praise at Hands of Newspaper in Harrisburg Given Student at his Life.

The Harrisburg Star Independent says: "One of Harrisburg's best known business men and citizens, Col. Isenberg, when the big fight took place, had to vacate the fight. The fight took place a few years before he was born. Milton H. Plank, well known in Harrisburg commercial circles, after getting an education at his home in Gettysburg, came to Harrisburg and entered the employ of the Keystone Telephone Company, attending faithfully to business and making friends and acquaintances for twelve years, when he was offered a place with the Wells Fargo Express Company in New York and thither he went, always on the alert for something that would be to the young man of ambition and energy. Himself or more than average ability, he grew.

It was while he was in New York that Colonel W. Hayes Steiner, of Columbia, was made Superintendent of the Public Printing and Binding, and Mr. Plank was just the man he wanted on their staff to keep Binding Clerk Alexander Shoaf, the latter's right hand man, from getting the hair of other chiefs' clerks. The young man came over from New York and he served faithfully and well until all Colonel Steiner's enemies could be silenced into fealtiness for himself. He had picked up a fair knowledge of printing and proper business, and he began in an humble way with many competitors. But two or three years found him down

It wasn't long before Mr. Plank was getting big paper contracts along with the best of them, and as he and the other contractors sit up and look when he was successful in bidding for contracts for the State and United States government. It was while doing a very successful business along these lines that his brother-in-law, Harry C. Fisk, proprietor of the brewery, the oldest establishment of the kind in Harrisburg, died and Mr. Plank was made executor of the estate and general manager of the entire establishment. This was only three years ago, but in that time Mr. Plank has shown that he was the man for the place, his ideas of improvement and log been vastly beneficial from a business point of view. As a matter of fact in the time he has been in charge of the brewery he has doubled its capacity and is constantly adding to its output of what is considered the finest product in the State. He has brought new methods to the long established concern that have been effective, and he has employed progressive ideas that have been successfully beneficial. At present he is engaged in building a large storage house in Market, so that it will in size be second to none in the State. Mr. Plank is a gentleman of the most courteous demeanor, and is to the extent of his large number of friends. He is very popular with all who know him, has the kind word for each and every one he knows, and has grappled his friends with hooks of steel. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, and one of the organizers of the Harrisburg Board of Trade. He is also a believer in the future of Harrisburg and is the possessor of as one of the city's most progressive citizens.

Wakes Flight Over Baltimore.

With thousands of persons in the streets, viewing the flight at every point of vantage witnessing the spectacle, Wilbur Wright, the aviator, made his flight over the city of Baltimore on Saturday afternoon, between 4 and 5 and Reading time.

Latham used his fifty-horse Antoinette machine, equipped with pontoons and seconds, in making the round trip from the Curtiss aviation field to the exposition; distance of twenty-two miles. He was in the air about an hour to attend the least possible view of the flight of the two men in the air.

Upon landing at the field on his return Latham said that the flight was very successful. His engine worked perfectly, and the air, while it was rather strong, blowing about ten miles an hour, was not sufficient to prevent his big kite craft. He said he did not have a barometer, but he was quite satisfied that his altitude over the city was about 1,000 feet. Latham left the field as low as 500 feet outside the city. He could climb to 1,000 feet, but at the hills and whitehats which greeted his appearance.

When he alighted on the field after his flight Latham received congratulations from the committee in the inclosure and from additional thousands who had gathered there. Wilbur Wright was the first man to step forward and congratulate Latham from Ross Winans. Mr. Winans is the owner of the field. He was followed by Glenn H. Curtiss, the original course was announced for 10 o'clock, but it was not normally to view the flight. Latham manoeuvred around the course with Mr. Winans' home, performing some dashing evolutions.

Young Mexican Burned at Stake.

Antonio Rodriguez, of Las Vares, twenty-seven years of age, was burned at the stake by a mob at Rock Springs, Texas, following the confession that he shot and killed Mrs. Lam Armbruster, who he mistook for a cow she "spoke none" to him.

Rodriguez was chained to the stake as he sat at a ranch over Rock Springs for food. The mob then set fire to the pyre soon afterward, and by night several hours had died.

The crowd stormed the jail yesterday and took the body of Rodriguez, which was prepared for burial.

Edward Lee Howard, convicted of setting fire to his mistress, Rodriguez was bound to the stake and the torch applied.

Aircraft Carries Dog Scouts.

Pull O. Thompson, of Dayton, one of the Wright brothers' aeroplane operators, made a successful cross country flight over made in a biplane in Ohio, Thompson, passing over South Charleston, Columbus, passing over South Charleston, Columbus, and Xenia. The distance, as given out by the Wrights, is sixty-two miles, and the time was one hour. Thompson carried Blood worth of silk and a dog. The object of the flight and this is the first time that the biplane has been put to a cross country test. Thousands of people in Columbus watched the flight, and when the aviator passed over the city and land at the driving park the machine flew at a height of 2000 feet.

Beverly Will Be Summer Capitol.

Beverly, Washington is known by the summer capital for another two years.

After the train bearing the president left Washington on Monday for Chetumal, President Taft and the Beverly representatives of Henry W. Peabody's estate of Boston, came to an agreement whereby the president will have the Peabody estate at Beverly, known as "Pavo Mio." The estate comprises seventy acres and is located about a mile from the Beverly station. It is a delightful summer resort, and about two miles from Beverly is the site of the old Fort Washington walls of Revolutionary

KILLS WITNESSES FOR GIRL

Accused Man Shoots Child's Stepfather and Two Children in Attempt to Obtain Divorce, Nov. 11.—Walter H. Fell, a young man who was on trial in the county on bail awaiting trial on a charge of assaulting a fourteen-year-old girl, Esther H. Fuge, shot and killed Frank H. Fuge, stepfather of the child, and Police Sergeant Frederick Schleicher, the principal witness against him, as they were waiting to lay the case before the district attorney.

The shooting occurred in the district attorney's office in the Bullitt county court house. Fuge was instantly killed and Schleicher died a few moments later at the Norfolk hospital.

Fell, who was charged in the district attorney's office grappled with Fuge, who arose from his chair in an attempt to end his own life. He was then overpowered by the police and handcuffed.

Benjamin Holmes, Fell's attorney, said after the shooting that Fell's attempt to secure a divorce from his wife, the attorney said, appeared calm and had given no indication that he had any resentment towards either Fuge or Schleicher. Fell is said to be insane.

Fell's wife, who was granted a divorce Tuesday, said that Fell fired at her when she appeared as a witness in the district attorney's office, and in each case the bullet struck the face, probably penetrating the brain.

DIX CARRIES NEW YORK

Democrats Sweep State For Governor and Entire Ticket.

BLOW TO COL. ROOSEVELT

The Entire State Ticket is Elected For the First Time Since 1894—Republican Lead Several Congressmen.

New York, Nov. 5.—New York state elected the whole Democratic state ticket. Dix, Democrat, defeated Sherman, Republican, for governor by 100,000 plu ality. For the first time since 1894 the Democrats will control the executive departments of the state government after the election.

In 1904 Hughes, Republican, carried the state by a majority of 91,937 over Herrick, Democrat, and in 1906 Hughes was re-elected by 69,232.

This year the candidates for minor offices on the Democratic ticket are well up with Stimson.

In 1910 the Democratic candidates for all state offices except governor were elected. In 1912 Colonel Roosevelt and Prohibition, was elected attorney general. With these exceptions the men elected are the first Democrats chosen to office since 1894, when Flower was elected governor.

Dix Got Lasher Vote.

The railroad labor vote, as shown by returns from Hornell and other railroad traffic centers up the state, has gone entirely to the Democrats, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Lasher, newspapers to make the tag of "dirt has been made a day" stick to John A. Dix.

Congressman Herbert Parsons, formerly chairman of the Republican county committee, was defeated by Jefferson M. Levy, in the Thirteenth district. The election of Levy is a Democrat in the Thirty-third district, which has been Republican for many years, was carried by Mr. Dix by a majority of 1,000 and the Democratic candidate for congress gave 300 plurality for his opponent, Edwin B. Underhill.

In the Oneida-Herkimer senatorial district Senator Lawrence, the leader of the insurgents there, is probably defeated. Hiss, Vice President Sherman's home city, went against Davenport by 300.

Congressman Serene E. Payne, the joint author of the tariff act, got a black eye in his home city of Auburn, but is re-elected. The Democrats have made gains for the assembly, but it is probable the senate will remain Republican, possibly a majority of three or four.

Roosevelt Loses Home District.

In Roosevelt's own home district, the Fifth of Nassau county, Dix won out on a plurality of 2,000 votes. The district is normally Republican by 195 votes. The reasons which operated to bring about this result in Roosevelt's own district undoubtedly led to the defeat of the Republican ticket throughout the state.

Returns indicate that the Democrats have lost every congressional district in Westchester and the Bronx.

The result is regarded as a severe blow to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who made a whirlwind campaign in behalf of Mr. Sherman, who was nominated at the convention of which Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurator and leader. Those personally and politically opposed to Mr. Roosevelt made a hard fight for Dix.

Henry L. Stimson has sent the following telegram to John A. Dix:

"The present returns indicate your election. I congratulate you and send you my good wishes for the success of your administration."

Dix Renews Platform Pledges.

Thurman, N. Y., Nov. 5.—John A. Dix said: "The crisis has been met in the other contests of general and statewide importance. The people have spoken, overwhelmingly, for the present administration. As governor I shall adhere to the letter and performance of the pledges of the party platform."

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Sargent Republican Governor Elected by 3000 Plurality.

Concord, N. H., Nov. 5.—Robert P. Bass, reform Republican candidate for governor, is elected by a plurality of 300.

Frank D. Currier is re-elected for congress from the Second district.

Cyrus A. Sulloway is also believed to be elected from the First district by a greatly reduced majority.

The legislature will be Republican by a good margin.

There is no United States senator to be elected this year.

Light Vote in Kentucky

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5.—While a light vote was cast over Kentucky, the Democrats carried the following districts: First, Ollie M. James, Democrat, Democrat, A. O. Stanley, Democrat, Ben Thomas, Democrat, Edward C. Ellerbe, Democrat, Polk Johnson, Democrat, Fifth, Harrison Weir, all of the latter Democrats were reelected.

JOHN A. DIX.

Elected Governor of New York on Democratic Ticket.

INDIANA IN DOUBT

Vote Is Very Close, With Democrats in the Lead.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 5.—Reports from almost one-third of the state outside of Marion county show that the vote is very close on the state ticket but that the Democrats are leading by a slight majority.

In order to overcome the vote of 1910, with which comparisons are to be made, they must gain nine votes to the precinct. The returns show that the average gain is about seven to the precinct, with only a small proportion of the county precincts reported.

With the Republican legislative ticket, consisting of eight candidates for representative and one candidate for senator, is making a better showing than the state ticket, there is a possibility of its being elected.

This county normally registers about Beveridge and his managers are making strenuous efforts to carry this county. They admit that the opposition will be hard to overcome, but that the legislature will be Democratic, though the indications are now that it will be.

HARMON CARRIES OHIO

Democratic Governor Reelected by 25,000 Plurality.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 5.—Ohio joined the Democratic landslide by reelecting Governor Judson Harmon by a plurality which the Democratic leaders headquarters estimates at better than 25,000.

Two state ticket under the governorship of Mr. Harmon, Democrats claim, is in doubt, though Democratic victories in Hamilton, Hamilton, Cuyahoga and other big counties indicates a possible Democratic victory on the state ticket.

The election of only a few congressmen is in doubt. Among those in doubt are: Second, H. M. Groot (R.), 1,000; district; W. A. Ashbrook, Dem., 3,000; Seventh, Charles H. Dick, Dem.; Thirteenth, Nicholas Longworth, Rep. First, Jos. Bingham, Republican, Second, Third, Isaac Sherrill, both Republicans, or Fourth, Ralph D. Cole, Rep. Eighth, Robert J. Bulkley and William Gordon, Democrats.

Rhode Island Elects Republicans.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 5.—For reelection of Republican congressmen, governor, lieutenant and state officers and a Republican mayor of Providence is indicated by returns received up to Waterman, the Democratic candidate for governor, is running 500 Governor Pothier's figures of last year, when Pothier had a plurality of nearly 15,000. In spite of this inward showing Republican leaders in Providence declared at least 2500 plurality and the election by the rest of the state ticket is conceded.

Result in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5.—Claude Dean, for congress in the Fifth district, polled twelve majority than was anticipated. May reach 8500, definitely Webb, Rep., for next man in the Morehead, Rep. Counties, Rep., in the Eighth, in Pasquotank reduced majority. It is impossible to tell at present how the vote will go in Wilson, in the Fourth, Kitchin, but at no time did either was Robinson, Rep., polled a heavy vote in Wilson county, and remaining Legislature by the usual majority.

TENER WINS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Republican Nominee Elected by Reduced Plurality.

GRIM HOPELESSLY LOST

Berry, Keystone Candidate, Ran Second and Was Strong in Western Counties.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—Pennsylvania, the bulwark for years of Republicanism, held her own and elected a Republican governor, returned a legislature overwhelmingly Republican and will also send to congress a great majority of Republicans.

It is estimated that the plurality of John K. Tener, Republican candidate for governor, will reach 25,000. Grim, the Democratic candidate, is hopelessly lost.

Hon. John Dalzell, Republican, was re-elected in the seventeenth congressional district.

The Keystone leaders had confidently claimed the western part of the state by their reinstatement of Boies Berry, but returns from the western counties started in slow that Tener would have a safe plurality there, too. If the rest of the early returns from the Allegheny county is maintained the Republican majority will exceed the county by a plurality of about 25,000.

The Democrats concede the vote of all the polls in all parts of the state, but claim that they have made the much better every effort to saving out every vote that could be secured. In the western Pennsylvania particularly the fight was waged with a fervor that stirred many a chronic stay-at-home voter.

Throughout the state the split tick ets are reported in practically every county. There is so much cutting that the voting precincts show the usual solid vote for the polls thronged almost all the time. Many voters are reported to have left the city counties this bad little sheet on their hands.

Returns from the Democratic and Republican counties indicated a sentiment almost the reverse of that which gave the Keystone leaders. Butting Republican majorities in Republican counties.

Secretary of State Palmander C. Knox would be defeated, but he was not able to do so because he had neglected to register.

In the central counties the state Democrats made a much better look than though in most of these counties the Democratic candidates, Berry excepted, elected. Lancaster county expects to send almost the entire Democratic delegation to the state legislature.

Reports from West Chester declare that the re-election of Congressman Edgar Wilson, Republican, from the Chester-Delaware district, is generally conceded.

CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATIC

Democratic Candidate, Who Was Beaten by 30 Records, Elected Governor.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 5.—John Simeon D. Bulkeley, Democrat, was elected governor of Connecticut by a majority of 30 votes.

The Republicans admit that the entire presidential ticket in the Second district, in which New London is located, has been elected by a majority of 1,000.

JOHN K. TENER.

Elected Governor of Pennsylvania by Reduced Plurality.

LIQUOR FIGHT IN FLORIDA

Voted on State Wide Prohibition and Sun Rise Close Season.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 5.—Interest in the election in Florida centered in the state wide prohibition contest 4, constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all liquors in the state was voted upon. Dispatches claim victory and the official canvass will be required. The ballot ques are that the anti-prohibitionists have carried the election by about 5,000 majority, but this is by no means certain.

The Republicans had no ticket in the field for congress or for state offices. The present congressional district is the Fourth, Democratic. The First district; Frank Clark, from the Second, and D. H. Mays, from the Third, were all re-elected by larger majorities than usual, the only Democratic Socialists in the First and Third, Socialist and Independent in the Second.

DELAWARE REPUBLICAN

Insures Re-election of Dupont to United States Senate.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 5.—The returns from Delaware, from this county. The indications are that the state has elected a Republican legislature. The indications are that the Republican ballots have the "straight" mark at the head of the ticket, and that there are likewise here the ballot, but in the latter case the voter has failed to cast by reason of the question that was asked by the Democratic party as to whether the Democratic nominee was a friend of organized labor.

FOSS ELECTED GOVERNOR

Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Wins by 20,000 Plurality.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Congressman Eugene N. Foss was elected governor of Massachusetts by a plurality of 24,000. The remainder of the Republican ticket is at west into office.

The defeat of Governor Eben S. Draper, the Republican nominee, is due to the agitation over the increased cost of necessities and the outcry that the high tariff was responsible for the chief causes.

The Democratic legislature will show large Democratic gains, but there are no Democratic senators to elect. In the re-election of Senator Lodge, seven Democrats in the senate will vote against and what few anti-Lodge Republicans there are.

WILSON WINS IN NEW JERSEY

Democrat Gubernatorial Candidate Elected by 20,000.

U. S. SENATOR IN DOUBT

But Republicans May Keep Control of the Legislature—Lewis Loses in Southern Part of State.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 5.—Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, was elected governor of New Jersey, defeating Vivien M. Lewis, Republican, by a plurality of 20,000. This day be greatly in excess what campaign managers have been received.

Returns of the Democratic landslide for the head of the ticket will carry with it control of the legislature and the election of a Democratic United States senator is in doubt.

The early indications were that the Republicans would maintain control of both the senate and assembly. They will still control the senate.

The earliest returns were from the Democratic counties and throughout the state, but these showed gains as accumulated. The returns that there was little question as to the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

Lewis had expected the large contingent from Atlantic City to give a heavy majority, but, believed he would make up the losses from Camden county which normally gives to the Republican strongholds of Hudson, Passaic, Bergen, Essex and Atlantic counties.

But the Camden county voting machine returns showed that Lewis had failed to get the vote that he expected from several of the other usually Republican counties, principally on account of the slow discouraging to the Republican party here and it was a matter of how great would be Wilson's plurality.

Not even the most sanguine of the Democratic leaders expected the overwhelming majority that was finally polled, and the headquarters here attributed the overthrow of the Republican party to due to the great feeling of unrest and the Democratic victory in the state was threatening for some time to sweep the country.

What is considered by some as a remarkable vote was that in Essex, one campaign managers came to fight for the head of the ticket, and Senator Martine in favor of the state Republican ballots here the "straight ticket" mark at the head of the ticket, and are likewise here the ballot, but in the latter case the voter has failed to cast by reason of the question that was asked by the Democratic party as to whether the Democratic nominee was a friend of organized labor.

WINS IN NEW JERSEY.

Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, Is Elected Governor.

ROOSEVELT IS SILENT

Republicans Lose Probably Enough to Cost Them Control.

New York, Nov. 5.—At the Democratic congressional headquarters in the city it is asserted that the Republicans have lost control of congress.

Returns from New England states, New York and New Jersey indicate that the Republicans have lost enough seats in congress to turn the control over to the Democrats.

Democratic gains have been recorded in Denville, Ill.

Nicholas Longworth has been re-elected in Ohio.

The victory Denby has been defeated is in Michigan.

The Massachusetts majority is conceded to be 24,000. In the assembly this is show the trend of the voting in Democratic districts. In the Boston area is found in the Twelfth district, the Democratic majority two years ago of 12,000 is reduced to 2000.

There is no notable Republican reverse in the New York state congressional delegation. It looks as if every Republican candidate for congress in the City of New York was reelected, with the possible exception of Herbert Parsons, who has failed to get in the running against Jefferson M. Levy. The only other possible Democratic election is the Thirteenth district, where the Democratic majority two years ago was a majority over Parsons by only about 100. In the Democratic in the Thirty-third congressional district, is considered defeated.

One of the hottest congressional fights in the state was in the Third district, where Cooke, Colonel Roosevelt's manager, opposed Congressman Peter G. Lindsay.

While nothing like final or authoritative returns from this district are given, the indications are that the Democrat has overcome the Republican majority, perhaps as small as 1,000 votes.

The Republicans hold their own in Westchester, the Democratic congressional district being the only one known to be absolutely lost to the Republicans at this time.

Georgia Solidly Democratic.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5.—Georgia's delegation in the next congress will be as follows: First district, Charles G. Edwards, Dem.; Second district, Seaborn A. Roddenbery, Dem. and incumbent; Third, Dudley M. Hughes, Dem. and incumbent; Fifth, William S. Howard, Dem.; Sixth, Thomas W. Hardwick, Dem. and incumbent; Seventh, Carl Vinson, Dem.; Eighth, Seaward J. Tribble, Dem.; Ninth, William C. Dunn, Dem. and incumbent; Tenth, Thomas W. Hardwick, Dem.; Eleventh, Eighth, Seaward J. Tribble, Dem.; Ninth, William C. Dunn, Dem. and incumbent; Tenth, Thomas W. Hardwick, Dem.; Eleventh, Dem. and incumbent; Eighth, Seaward J. Tribble, Dem.; Ninth, William C. Dunn, Dem. and incumbent; Tenth, Thomas W. Hardwick, Dem.; Eleventh, William G. Brantley, Dem. and incumbent. Only contests pending are for the Governor, state house officers and the legislature, all Democrats.

Eight Interest in South Carolina.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 5.—Slight interest is manifested in the vote taken in this state, the vote from reports received from a few scattering precincts indicating that Carolina always polls a light vote in congressional election, the interest and issues in primaries being equivalent to elections.

The state ticket, led by Coleman Blease, for governor, is unopposed, Socialists having put out a gubernatorial candidate who polled a few scattering votes. A solid Democratic congressional election, all incumbents elected.

Idaho Elects Republican.

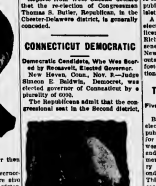
Boise, Idaho, Nov. 5.—Returns indicate the election of the entire Republican state ticket, headed by Brady for governor, by a majority of 5,000 or more. French, at incumbent, seems certain of re-election to congress, but returns are not yet in Republican, but there is no doubt that the legislature is safe. The only issue is submission of a state wide prohibition amendment.

Prohibitionists Lose Ground.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Returns indicate the election of the entire Republican state ticket, headed by Brady for governor, by a majority of 5,000 or more. French, at incumbent, seems certain of re-election to congress, but returns are not yet in Republican, but there is no doubt that the legislature is safe. The only issue is submission of a state wide prohibitionists amendment.

Eight Democrats Elected.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 5.—Georgia's delegation in the next congress will be as follows: First district, Charles G. Edwards, Dem.; Second district, Seaborn A. Roddenbery, Dem. and incumbent; Third, William S. Howard, Dem.; Fifth, Thomas W. Hardwick, Dem. and incumbent; Sixth, Carl Vinson, Dem.; Seventh, Seaward J. Tribble, Dem.; Eighth, William C. Dunn, Dem. and incumbent; Tenth, Thomas W. Hardwick, Dem.; Eleventh, William G. Brantley, Dem. and incumbent. Only contests pending are for the Governor, state house officers and the legislature, all Democrats.



SIMEON BALDWIN.

to long held by the Democratic boss of the house, is in danger of going to the Republican ticket.

The Republicans have so many local fights on their hands that individual point to a gain of from 50 to 70 seats in the general assembly for the Democrats. The use of the Australian ballot for the first time at a general election and the expected closeness of the vote in practically every district operation as to the possibility of the election being thrown into the courts over contested ballots thrown out by local managers.

Republicans Carry Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—The Republicans have gained a complete victory in Wisconsin, electing F. R. McGovern, Republican candidate for governor by 20,000 and remaining LaFollette by the usual majority. Democratic gains are claimed by the Democrats.

Alleged Briber Reelected.

Ottawa, Ill., Nov. 5.—Lee O'Neil Browne, Democrat, who is charged in the Lorimer election scandal, has been reelected to the state legislature.

STUDENTS HOLD CELEBRATION

When News is Received at Victory over Bucknell. Up-State University Defeated in Exciting Game. Parade and Bon Fire.

Gettysburg inherited its old rival, Bucknell University at Lewisburg on Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 0 and the usual demonstration with bon fire and speeches was held when the news arrived here at about 6 o'clock train over the Reading.

The victory was all the more welcome because it had been extremely doubtful whether the local team would be able to bring home the scalp of their strong up-state opponent. Since athletic relations were resumed by the two institutions five or six years ago the home team has won nine or six alternate years and this year was Gettysburg's turn.

The game was exciting throughout. There was no scoring until the last period when Daybell kicked a field goal for Gettysburg from the 30 yard line. Bucknell followed soon after with a touchdown and goal. Score: Bucknell 6, Gettysburg 3. A few minutes later one of the Bucknell players went wrong, fluked got the ball and galloped away twenty five yards for the winning score.

As soon as the score reached Gettysburg the college bell continued to ring and continued for a half hour. Early in the evening a parade was formed and the boys in pajamas and fancy costumes marched over the streets of town headed by six or eight members of the college band. A general jubilation was held in front of the second with a speech or two and marched about town in a big manner. Then out to the college past a big bon fire and to the chapel where several members of the faculty and all the members of the band made speeches. The celebration was begonned.

The students are all looking forward now to the two remaining games of the season, the final with Dickinson here on Saturday and the second with Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster on Thanksgiving Day.

COMPLIMENTS OF HIGH PRICES

That the high cost of living is positively affecting the pocket books of a number of Gettysburg people and causing them to alter their ways is brought out forcibly in conversations with various men since the first of the month in discussing the problem said

"I remember when a dime bed was five cents a pound. Now it is more than three times that price. We get only twenty cents for sausage, thirty cents for bacon and correspondingly high prices for everything else. The only things that haven't gone up in proportion are wages. I don't see how any of us can make ends meet this winter."

MUCH GAME FOR THE HUNTERS

Adams County's Hunting Grounds Yielding Rabbits, Squirrels and Partridges. Trespass Notices on all Sides Hinder Hunters

Gunning is reported to be the best in many years by the owners and local hunters going out into the surrounding mountains and woods in search of game and the amount of game they bring back to the city. In fact the hunting districts have cut this fact quite visibly.

Although the squirrel season opened some time ago, yet those for rooted out partridges and rabbits in an alien dance, and many of them are shot and killed. The rabbits and partridge now take to the first rank and the hunters are to the front in a like way while the hunter takes after the rabbit and quail, the rabbits and quail are reported of good size, the best anywhere hung to their benefit.

Almost everywhere the hunters are met with glaring trespass notices and the field of hunt is very much limited as compared with that of but a few years ago.

That this is true is not surprising in view of the fact that game interiors are inconsiderate of property owners' rights, as a rule, it is claimed. Fences are torn down, vegetables destroyed and in many instances barns burning but has always been a remedy for such wrongs during the last few months, and for many years the Franklin county sportsmen have organized winner palaces, where the trump indicates by the "The owners have agreed to raise the price for leveling the nomads and, further than that, the county property board Adams county the encumbrances of vagrants made to the workhouse to be confined at the county poor farm. The result of this action has been that the tramps have kept away from the confines of Franklin county, the news evidently having been carried by wireless. For the first time in many years the jail and workhouse in the Chambersburg jail are deserted. Those who sold wood to the burg people have been wondering what has spend his spring money. The following members are enrolled: Judge John W Bittenger, G. Ray Kain, Jacob Hoffman, H. H. Bender, Norman H. Starr, Raymond Mumper, Jacob Hoffman, Jr., Manchester, Jr., McClean Stock, Rev. C. G. Barnitz, and Dr. Lee L. Weaver.

FRAUD IN WATERSHED

A report from Weyandotte says that the small fish and worms on Saturday issued eighty ten receipts and the receipts for the week for the two days. An investigation has been started and the matter will be laid before the next meeting of the Board of Directors of the Watershed Association, which is also a member of the Republican organization."

RELIEF FOR WATER SUPPLY

Hanover's water famine is now at an end. The small streams and springs have swollen the streams feeding the Conewago reservoir and the water supply of the town are now much relieved. It is thought the water supply now will be economical in the event of a fire or freezing of the earth before a rain.

PROPERTY SOLD

William H. Johns has sold the property at the foot of Baltimore Hill and will use it as property in the J. J. Pfeffer Terne private.

WATCH for the big stock sale on Tuesday, November 15. Don't forget, November 15. Sentzel and Brown.

WILL NOT RAISE PRICE OF MILK

Gettysburg Dairymen Fail to Endorse to Raise Wholesale Price to Six Cents and Retail Price will Remain the Same.

Gettysburg people who have feared a raise in the price of milk may rest assured, at least for a while, that the price of same will remain the same as at present.

An effort was made to raise the price to hotel proprietors and boarding house keepers from 6 cents to 8 cents a quart. They are known to local dairymen as the wholesale trade. It was generally told that they could afford to pay six cents the retail price, but that the price of eight cents they could afford to pay as cents each.

The effort to bring about the raise fell, however, due, it is claimed, to opposition. As a result it is not likely that there will be any raise at all here. J. T. Bernard, who is one of Gettysburg's oldest dairymen, in discussing the proposed raise said:

"There is no commodity so cheap as milk. Everything else has increased in price and the cost of milk of inflating any hardship on the small consumer. I do not think that will do. Dairy take place now and milk will stay at five cents a quart in Gettysburg, I think. Many other places the price is eight cents."

One or two people about town who sell small quantities of milk at eight cents a quart will do the dairy business concerns a proposed raise from six to seven cents.

A RUSSIAN MARRIAGE

The Way the Devils Were Driven Out of Eden.

By WILLIAM ALFRED CORTY.
(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

Nikolain Nesaroff and Nassiska Nesaroff were to be married. It was a solemn, for Nikolain, big, not brawny shouldered, was slimmer, and his skin, brown and pretty, was fifteen.

Notwithstanding Nikolain and Nassiska had themselves nothing to say about their marriage they were very fair of them overseas.

Two years had Natasha loved and were going to marry. So far so good. But there were two going to be married.

By the church, of course, spoke the elders of the Nikolain sect. No license, no sacrament, legal formalities are useless, please. These things believed in the nations. As a result it is not likely that there will be any raise at all here. J. T. Bernard, who is one of Gettysburg's oldest dairymen, in discussing the proposed raise said:

men who worked with him absent themselves temporarily on appointed days to attend to the spiritual needs of the church. Nikolain's father, Nesaroff, had been a priest, but since he had refused to obtain the license and the cost, he was dismissed with the reverend feeling that "God" was "the Lawful" would be overlooked.

That evening there was a crowded meeting of the faithful of both cases and sects in the house of the groom's father. The air was surcharged with the odor of incense.

Nikolain and Nassiska were both in the room, standing before the priest, big a seat on the man's side, and Nassiska's mother, standing on the floor among the women.

The priest began with the usual chant, the words of a Bible psalm being intoned in Russian by the priest and monotone with long practiced rhythm that sounded like a prayer to some and like a lullaby to others.

Then the chant was followed by exhortations to the bride and groom, and I stole in a corner, leading a little, and I noticed the women and children had closed against the unexpected four.

Then the priest, who had been at his best a window or door was open, and Nikolain and Nassiska, standing side by side, each with a candle in the hand, and the priest, with a candle in each hand, began to walk around the room, singing the ritual hymn, and the women and children followed behind

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light like Cambria Rayo, that operates the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, a restful eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

5 YEAR OLD BOY DIES SUDDENLY

Young Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Deiter suddenly Falls Dead in His Brother's Arms. Result of Whooping Cough.

Clyde Andrew Deiter, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Deiter who reside about two and a half miles west of town, passed away from the arms of his brother Saturday afternoon about half past three o'clock from heart trouble.

The little fellow had gone out into the field after dinner to watch the men loading corn. He was standing by the side of his brother, your old brother, Chaus, and waved well as usual, but then he fell out on the ground before calling him. Their mother ran to them but before she reached the child's side no the little boy was dead. A physician was hurriedly summoned but life had fled almost instantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Deiter reside south of town between the Baltimore pike and the Emmanuel church road. Besides their son, Clyde, had a severe attack of whooping cough and ever since he had attacks of heart trouble. In the survival all of them until Saturday when one of unusual severity snuffed out his life.

The parents and the one brother survive. Funeral Sunday afternoon at two o'clock from the house, services by Rev. T. J. Barkley, interment in the Evergreen Cemetery.

PREPARE FOR DEMONSTRATIONS

To prepare for demonstrations in Adams and other counties, the meeting of the State Orchard Inspectors will be held this week under the immediate supervision of Prof. Surface, at Mechanicsburg, beginning Wednesday forenoon and continuing through the week. The purpose is to give general and detailed directions and instructions to the inspectors, and demonstration to the inspectors and demonstration to local orchardists prior to starting them in the fall demonstration work in the several counties of this State. The details of program for each day depend upon the conditions of the weather. When the weather is such that the men can be taken into orchards for practical object lessons, this will be done, and when it is bad weather and during the evenings, the men will be addressed by Professor Surface at indoor meetings.

SHOT TEARS HAND TO SHREDS

The first serious hunting accident of this season in this section occurred Friday afternoon. It cost Clarence Small, of near Upton, his right hand.

Young Small, who is a son of John Diehl and lives with his parents, two miles south of Upton, started out hunting Friday after dinner. A dog followed him and he turned on the brute to pop up the animal.

On the push the gun slipped in his hand and when the young man grabbed for it to keep it from falling, he had his right hand over the muzzle and the full charge of the shell struck in hand. The flesh was torn into shreds.

CLAYTON H. MYERS

Clayton H. Myers died at 12.30 a. m. Tuesday of dropsy, after a illness of the same in New Oxford, aged about 62 years.

His wife, two daughters and two sons survive, Mrs. Frank Spangler and Mrs. Frank Gochenour, Misses Mary, Carmen Myers, of New Chester; and John Myers, of Charlestown, and Virginia.

He was a member of the Patriotic Order Sons of America who will attend the funeral in a body. Funeral Wednesday at 1.30 p. m. from the house, Rev. George N. Lauffer officiating. Interment in New Oxford cemetery.

SHOW STOPS FUNERAL

Snow drifts which blocked the country roads near Bellefonte, Pa., delayed the funeral of Henry Bowersox, aged 71 years, a Civil War veteran, to take place at 10 a. m. Nov. 4, but was postponed until 2 p. m.

On account of the roads being drifted with snow, it was impossible for many autos to make their usual shipments of milk to Baltimore in the morning in consequence they went to the station through the heavy snow.

NEW BANK FOR EAST BERLIN

Steps have been taken to organize The Peoples State Bank of East Berlin. The organization board as yet consists of H. A. Myers, J. W. Sell, Michael Robert, W. G. Lilly and Wm. F. Baber. This board will be increased in number shortly, however. Some time ago this board organized a large number of banks in Adams and Cumberland, but have decided to aid in organizing The Peoples State Bank.

CHUMS HALTED AN ELOPEMENT

College Boy about to Elope with Town Girl Stopped by Student Chums who Persuade him to Abandon the Idea.

Gettysburg narrowly escaped the sensation of an elopement on Sunday afternoon when a student of college and a young lady of our town, laid their plans of running away frustrated by several chums of the student.

The student was on his way to town to meet his bride-to-be when several of his chums overtook at college in some way found out what he was up to. They hastened after him, caught him and after some more search, found the young lady and made arrangements for the trip. It took long persuasion before the elopement, it is said, to divert him from his purpose.

On the other hand the young lady was awaiting her prospective husband at a local store and when the news of their intended flight broke out she also was considerably broken up.

The affair would be almost over several years under age and just where they were bound for could not be learned but is not known, but it is thought that they were on their way to matrimony as their appearance would be the first indication of intentions that they have resolved twenty one

The parents of the young lady and the student are said to be pleased that the affair has been nipped in the bud.

WOMAN CHAMPION OF SOCIALISM

On Saturday Mrs. Gertrude Breslau Hunt, of Chicago, who is an earnest champion of the Socialist party ticket, with McSherrystown, under the auspices of the Socialist club of that town. On account of impaired trolley and service the meeting was held in the big there, and the lecture did not begin until about 8 o'clock. Those present were loyal, however and remained to hear the speaker's address. While many in the gathering had doubts about the application of the "Socialist at present political" ills, they were deeply impressed with the eloquence and convincing manner of the speaker.

Mrs Hunt is a lawyer by profession, and is well endorsed by Professor Surface, with a sprinkling of women, who seem, going to follow her line of thought. She is a deep reasoner and a woman of rare intelligence, and eminent gifts of oratory. Her particular theme was "Socialism and Christianity," "bonbholders and coupon slippers."

A Long Romance

It Ended Realistically in Wedlock

By RICHARD G. WHITE

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

An elderly gentleman with a tattered photo of a summer hotel average girl in his hand, Bonsetti him the waves were swirling in on the beach, casting a file of foam over the smooth sand, and seemed with an enormous hot sound. There may be people who can sit and watch the ever-changing sea by and recession of waves with a mild indifference, but the gentleman Warrington, whose spiritual part was made of finer stuff than his body, felt strange man or woman. To him the billows told stories of romance. Long ago then that, they brought him memories. There was a time of sadness at all, for he was alone to the world, without wife or child.

Now he was revolting to him it

TAFT SORELY DISAPPOINTED

Will Push Reforms at Short Session of Congress.

STARTS FOR PANAMA

President Plans to Crowd as Much Progressive Legislation Through Short Session of Congress as Possible.

President Taft left Washington for Charleston, S. C., where he boarded the cruiser Tennessee for the trip to Panama.

Mr. Taft will be away about two weeks. His trip is one strictly of business, and he will make a complete study of the situation on the isthmus upon which he base recommendations to congress at the coming session.

Disappointed as is the president at the loss of the house of representatives to the Democrats, his political advisers are pointing hopefully to the fact that a three months' session of the present Republican majority by both branches of congress is about to begin. It is hoped that in this brief period the administration will be able to get a number of its legislative proposals up there ready to be the immediate chance of enacting.

Much of the proposed legislation which will be urged upon congress is the president's conscientious measure well be of a progressive character, and it is said in Washington that the prospects are excellent for harmony in the executive session. An effort will be made in the short session to pass as much progressive legislation as possible because of the stiff tock measures which have come to the fore since the present administration two years hence.

Interesting as promise to be the events of the short session, the assembling of the new congress and its conflict with a Democratic house and a Republican senate, serving under a Republican president, will attract the wider attention.

The first session of the new congress, which will convene on a third successive day, hence, is practically committed to an
